

Girl Scout Troop 6671 Newsletter

The Girl Scout World

At the start of 2019, the girls asked about Girl Scouts outside their troop - What are they like? What do they do? To satisfy their curiosity, Troop 6671 set a goal to find and befriend as many as they can find. An opportunity arose when World Thinking Day came around. It is a day of celebrating and recognizing fellow Girl Scout members around the world, personally and culturally.

Troop 6671 joined a World Thinking Day gathering honoring the various cultures that make up the Girl Scouts. While Troop 6671 represented the Philippines, they indulged in international delicacies and learned about other nations including France and Ghana. They mingled with other Girl Scouts and broke ice by singing, dancing and playing games. They worked together on a series of projects while creating an air of camaraderie.

The Daisies were just getting started. While they enjoyed the company of the previous Girl Scout gathering, their journey workshop was something else! With the help of two Senior Girl Scouts, they potted small plants, learned classic Girl Scout songs (The Banana Song and There Was A Great Big Moose) and in the end, earned their first Journey award. It was a rewarding day for the Daisies and they gained a special friendship, particularly with a Senior Girl Scout nicknamed “Scooby”.

Their first journey workshop had a large turn out. It gave the girls a look into how big their Girl Scout world can get. However, it was nothing compared to their second workshop! As massive as it was, Troop 6671 felt at home, joining other girls and reuniting with their Senior Girl Scout guide. After helping the pantry prepare the snacks for the entire delegation, the girls got down to business. As part of their second Journey award requirement, they scavenged Camp Mariposa for rocks and other things, learned more about nature and joined a giant Girl Scout circle.

After attending three busy Girl Scout events, there is no doubt Troop 6671 will never feel alone. And the girls know this is just the beginning. As they set out to become Brownies in second grade, they anticipate more exciting events, crazier activities and seeing their Girl Scout world broaden and expand.

Have a great summer and Troop 6671 will be back next year!
